WEB DESIGN

Technology Solutions offers a full range of internet hosting services and web design. We endeavor to work closely with our clients to ensure you are completely satisfied. We can design a web site to meet your requirements. We don't use any templates and all our work is original.

Our skill base is broad, we are adept with all the major technologies involved with web deployment. Our lead designer is one of those rare creative geek types, he is a programmer that likes to make pretty things. No running back and forth between creative and deployment teams, our guys simply do it all.

We are very affordable: our web development rate is $97.00 per hour (+GST within New Zealand).

We are proud of the sites we design. If you have a moment, check some of them out on the recent projects page. If you're considering having a presence on the internet or are just wanting to know more then contact us for a chat.
